

BRANDED AS MOREL LEPERS

By Judge Sparks in His Charge to the Grand Jury Yesterday

WAS CERTAIN PERSONS

Who are Reported as Saying
That They Were Protected
by Officials

Judge Will M. Sparks gave the Grand jury specific instructions yesterday in a matter that has been freely discussed by many of our citizens in the past few months. In his instructions, the judge strongly intimates that some saloons are flagrantly violating the law, and flinging a stinging insult in the face of the law, in openly boasting that they are protected by certain officials. Judge Sparks used some very emphatical terms in alluding to the case, styling the guilty ones as moral lepers, and declaring that society needs and is entitled to protection from them. He demands that the matter be settled immediately, and says that the court will go to the full limit of its power to see that the law is respected.

Time and again, word has been passed around to the effect that certain saloons were conducting gambling, but the Daily Republican has been informed repeatedly by the officers who have made investigations, that there was no truth in the rumors, and has published such reports accordingly.

It has never been the policy of this publication to throw a cloak of protection about any official or set of officials who do not perform their duties, and if it is found that saloon men, or any other persons have been given protection by the officers, such person many anticipate a full exposure of their villainous work.

At present we are not in a position to say other than the social word given by the officers, but if such a condition is in existence in Rushville, it is the hope of every law abiding and law respecting citizen that the Grand jury make a thorough investigation of the matter, and if anyone is found guilty, that they be given the full limit of the law.

Judge Sparks, in his instructions said: "It has been reported to me that certain liquor houses within our city are claiming that they have official protection in conducting an illegitimate business. I desire to say to you that I have no knowledge of any such dishonest or disreputable condition, if it exists, and I call your attention to it in order that you may thoroughly investigate it, and if you find it to be true, let no guilty man escape."

"I want it investigated for two reasons: First, because of the aggravated character of the crime; second, I am informed and have good reasons to believe that there are some saloon keepers in our city who are and have been for some time, trying to obey the laws as they now stand, and I submit to you that it is manifestly unfair to these men, when they are making an effort to obey the laws, to be surrounded by competitors who are continually violating the laws, thereby gaining a commercial advantage which is cowardly, dishonorable and illegitimate."

"Saloon keepers who obey the laws as enacted by the legislature, with the rest of society need and are entitled to protection from this class of moral lepers. They have been advised, they have been plead with and they have been warned to respect and obey the law, just the same as all other citizens are required, and are glad to do. Now, if they have persisted, and do persist in not doing so, there is no better time to settle this question than right now. Society has some rights in this matter to be respected and this court will go to the full limit of its power to see that they are respected."

Charles E. Phipps has filed suit in the Rush circuit court against Charles Owens on an account demanding $192.80.

THE BIG HIPPOPOTAMUS SUFFERS WITH HAY FEVER

Huge Beast, Recently Here, is Sent Home

HAS EARTHQUAKE SNEEZE

Big George, the hippopotamus seen in this city with the Hagenback and Wallace circus a few weeks ago, has hay fever—at least that is what the show doctor says, and for treatment the huge beast is being confined to his room at the circus winter quarters of Peru. After the exhibition at Frankfurt last Saturday the tank wagon containing Big George was "cut out" and sent to Peru. The huge beast has been afflicted with sneezing fits for two weeks and when thus overcome his cage would shake like a leaf in an October gale. From his little eyes stream big tears and the animal seems to suffer greatly. Big George is one of the very few of his kind in this country and is valued at $12,000. Therefore he will be given the best of care at home.

Ferocious Lion Attacked Darkey

There was deal of genuine fun around the Windsor hotel last night. In the past few months Landlord Freeman has been troubled with employing a good night porter, and this week he was of the opinion that his long line of progressive porter hiring was at an end when an ebony son from Kentucky blew in to try for the position. He was a genuine darkey of the old school, about forty years old, and with a "yes sah!" to every word put to him.

But last night the dusky son of old Kentucky had an experience that he will not soon forget, and the chances are he will shake the Northern dust from his feet this week, and let the "gold dust twins" do the work "up heah."

The wild animal show is pitched on South Morgan street, along side the Windsor hotel, and thereby hangs the tale. Mr. Darkey was sitting in the chair on the shoe shining stand last night, about ten o'clock, trying to steal a wink of sleep ever and anon between bell hops and delivering ice water, when one of the large lions in the animal show gave one of those ungodly, rumbling roars, peculiar to the king beast of the jungles, and the colored fellow awoke with a start and fairly leaped across the room. When he realized what had occurred, and that there was no immediate danger, he chuckled haply and again resumed his seat on the chair.

It was then that several loafers around the hotel lobby "framed up" on the frightened darkey. They recounted the story of the recent escape of a lion in the Pittsburgh zoo, when one woman was killed and several persons injured. The darkey sat blinking his eyes like a wise old owl. He was thinking. Then one of the party, posing as a member of the animal show, told how frail was the cage in which the lion was held captive, and how a drunken keeper insisted on annoying the beast, late at night, when all had left. The lion gave forth a mighty roar about this time, and the kinky gray wool on the fellow's head began to straighten out with fright.

One of the fellows in the party, slipped out of the hotel to get Earl Stier's great Newfoundland dog and he was brought to the front doors of the hotel. There the fellow waited with the dog until the lion roared again, and kicking against the door and hollowing at the top of his voice he bounded into the hotel office with the big dog at his heels. The panic stricken negro actually fell off his chair into the middle of the floor, and with a heart touching cry he ran from the room, up the stairway, where he fell on his knees before the door of Landlord Freeman, praying that he be saved from an untimely death. Mr. Freeman came out in his pajamas and partially pacified the man. But he refused to go down stairs again to work, and slept in the attic the remainder of the night.

FESTIVAL IS NOW ON, BUT—

Say! Isn't This Rainy Weather
Aggravating? Sunshine is Promised

IT WILL MEAN SUCCESS

People Were Keyed up to a Carnival Spirit Last Night—
Some Notes

Pshaw! Isn't this rain aggravating. The members of the uniform rank K. of P. (keep praying) are pronouncing the weather "uniformly rank." Even the Tin Sword Constabulary, the Rushville gendarmes sworn in as police by Mayor Cowing, are up in arms about the "inclement."

The Free Fall Festival opened last night under unfavorable circumstances, although a large crowd was on the streets, walking through the drizzling rain and wading through the mud, to take a "pike" at the attractions along the pike. And they were of the money spending variety: many of them holding the admission fee in their hands, ready to let go with the least encouragement.

Some of the shows opened, but the rain put a damper on things and at 9 o'clock all bets were declared off, and even the "persistent" Royal Italian band ceased melody making.

If a little sunshine is let in soon, the festival will be all that was hoped for, as it has been properly advertised and big crowds are coming.

FALL FESTIVAL FINDINGS.

The Baby Parade was postponed today on account of the inclement weather. It will be given tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, on the main thoroughfares. "Get the 'kids' in line."

All the shows will be opened to-night.

The Italians working here on the sewer were interested spectators at the Fall Festival last night. They followed the Royal Italian band around, with smiles on their pinched faces.

"You can't never measure a snake until he's dead," said a farmer today, and this applies well in the case of sizing up characters. To look at the man who conducts the baby rack in front of Betker's store this week you would never suspect that he was the owner of a $13,000 residence in Indianapolis, which he made with the baby rack, when other people "missed the children." But such is the case.

The Royal Italian band is certainly "all the candy."

Charley Applegate, a local street fair man, has a cracker jack and ice cream cone stand in front of the People's National bank.

Lev. Wallace, owner of the Pop Corn Factory at Second and Main streets, and one of the largest stockholders in the Pony Express, is eating butter on his pie this week.

Say, what do you know about that voice that "Iola" deals out? She can back some of these alleged concert singers up in the corner and make them "holler" for peppermint drops. She sings through a megaphone, and has a round, full melodious voice and good clear enunciation. But this out door exercise and training she is giving her vocal powers is not going to improve it.

You can say what you please, but there there isn't a bunch of stiers in Rushville that can start with the Uniform rank crowd. They are men of action.

Both of the free acts are located on First street. The spiral tower on which Signor Frisco rides a unicycle is located in front of J. W. Tompkins store, and Bartino, the Great, does a shooting shoot bar act in front of the Sleeth residence on West First street. All the members of Ivy company U. R. K. of P. have been sworn in with police power by the mayor. Never before did Rushville have such a large police force. One can find one of the Ivy boys "creeping" around most anywhere after night, seeing that the law is obeyed.

The Queen and Children's contests are getting warmer at each count. The reports attract and interest more people than the Russo-Japanese war reports.

The Salome show is attracting a "few." There they have the "Dance of the Seven Veils," by the whole Vale family.

"Rolla" is the feature of the carnival.

The animal show opens tonight. "Uneasy lies the head now that will wear the crown of the Queen" of the Festival.

"Intoxicated persons" are not allowed to see Sampson, the big snake.

The Plantation show people are a happy bunch.

MAY RETURN THEIR CHARTER

Local Mail Carrier, Now Talk

CONVENTION DISPLEASES

Delegates Cheered For Heywood
and Voted President Lobby
Fee of $10,000

The local members of the National Letter Carriers Association are "all hot up" over the doings at the National convention at Canton, Ohio, last week, and it is likely that they will return their charter and resign from the organization.

They are very much displeased over the action of the delegates in convention. Press dispatches tell the story of how the delegates cheered wildly when a resolution of sympathy was offered for Heywood, the accused Colorado murderer, showing that there was probably a Socialist move in the organization, which is very distasteful to the local members. They favor keeping politics aloft from the meetings of the letter carriers.

Another act of the convention, that of voting the president $10,000 for lobbying in the last session of Congress to have the mail carriers salaries increased, is considered by the local members as a poor piece of business, and they are highly indignant over it. They will wait for the official minutes of the convention before taking steps in the matter, and one of the members said today if they learn that the newspaper reports are true, they will resign and return the charter of the local organization.

Quite a few farmers were in the city today and took a look around.

The Pitless Scale Company, of Pleasant Hill, Mo., will open a branch factory in New Castle, employing forty people.

The Woman's Relief Corps will meet tomorrow afternoon in the Red Men's hall to prepare for the district meeting to be held here next month and other business. A full attendance is desired.

MOTHER BEGS FOR CHILDREN

Princeton Woman Sues Trustees of Soldier's and Sailor's Orphans Home

SAYS NAME WAS FORGED

Case Came up For Hearing in Rush Circuit Court
Today

The habeas corpus proceedings, in which Mrs. Ella Eakes, has sued the trustees of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Knights-town for the possession of her two sons, began in the circuit court today.

Mrs. Eakes at present resides in Princeton, and asks that she may be allowed to take her children home with her. The mother claims that the children were taken from her during a spell of illness on an application to which her name had been forged. Now the woman claims that she has regained her health and is amply able to care for the boys and asks the court that they be returned. The trustees will try to prove to the court that the woman is not qualified to care for the boys, who are now learning a trade and living in a place from which they should not be taken, and which will be the means of them making a livelihood in future years.

Several of the orphan children, from the home were here today as witnesses, including the two bright eyed boys over which the case in being tried.

There is on exhibition in Lytle's drug store window a very fine bouquet of selected flowers from the garden of Mrs. Lewis Cline, of North Harrison street. Mrs. Cline is a great lover of flowers and her flower garden is one of the most beautiful in this city.

A YOUNG DAVID STONED MIGHTY CARNIVAL GOLIATH

A young lad put the "Star-Duplex" to one of the carnival razor backs near the Grand hotel yesterday evening, hitting him with a stone, following a noisy altercation. The young David who hit the full grown Goliath with the rock, followed up with a clinch and planted his teeth in the brawny fellow's forearm. Friends intervened and called "time" on them.

AILEEN WILSON DID NOT FINISH IN THE CHALK

"Aileen Wilson," who was injured in the Detroit fire, showed the effects of a bad knee in the $5000 stake race at Syracuse yesterday. Dick Ware was loafing with the little mare in the first two heats, says the press dispatches, and went out to win the third heat, and was nosed out of second place by Geer's entry.

HEALTH BOARD WARNS PEOPLE OF RUSHVILLE

To Guard Against Outbreak of Typhoid Fever

SUGGEST SIMPLE RULES

"Dr. H. G. Linn," the secretary of the city board of health sends out the following warning and advice to the people of the city:

"To citizens who are aware of the accumulation of decaying vegetable matters, such as weeds, corn husks, melon peels and waste water known to contain grease, etc., should rid premises of the same. And to persons who throw dead rats in streets and alleys, warning is given, if they be detected prosecution will follow, and to physicians who have have typhoid fever patients and have failed to report same to the health officer will remember in so doing that they are violating the law. Everyone to whom this appeal applies will take prompt action in assisting to check the spread of disease by strict compliance with this request."

HARVEST DAYS FOR I. & C. TRACTION

It is one Continuous Round of Passengers For the Past Few Weeks

Besides the carnival here, the State fair is on this week, and the I. & C. traction line will have another busy week, as thousands of people will be carried in the State capital over both the Shelbyville and Rushville lines.

Fairs have given the I. & C. a great boost this year. Week before last the company was busy running shuttle trains from Rushville to the fair grounds at this place and extra cars from both sides of town took many to the fair. Last week the Connersville and Shelbyville fairs made a lot of business for the line and this week the State fair will make its business good.

QUIETLY SLIPPED AWAY AND WED

Double Elopement From the City Sunday Evening Announced Today

A double elopement, which occurred in this city Sunday evening is just coming to light, and is yet unknown to the parties nearest friends, was that of Thomas Smith and Miss Milda McGregor and Herchel Gregory and Miss Ethel Brown, all of this city.

The couples left for an supposed evening in the country and quietly slipped over to the minister of the church at Orange, and were united in the bonds of matrimony.

TREE WAS ALL ABLAZE

Fire Department Called to Remedy Matter

The fire department was called out about 10 o'clock last night and a hurried run was made to the corner of Eighth and Morgan streets, where a tree was found to be all ablaze. The tree became ignited by coming in contact with a live wire on which the insulation had been worn off and the rain added all the more to the blaze. The firemen did not throw any water on the tree, because of the danger in the live wires which were near, but the limbs were cut, however, and the blaze soon died out.

TINSLEY MAKES POINTED REPLY

And Asks Who Shall Say

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Says Ministers Who Have Been Working Against Him Failed to Bring Out Facts

The newspapers have had considerable to say at various times about Rev. Charles W. Tinsley, former pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church here, and some of the sermons he has preached. The report was circulated that his orthodoxy would be investigated at the East Ohio conference but the report was shortly after denied. At Youngstown, Ohio, where Dr. Tinsley preaches, he seems to be in full accord with his congregation and his church has enthusiastically endorsed him to and asked for his return.

The resolutions introduced at the conference, contained high praise for Dr. Tinsley as a man, as a minister and as a thinker. The investigation which three pastors of this district undertook on their own account to make of his teachings is characterized by them as un-Methodist and ungenerous; the results of the investigation as unworthy of the serious consideration of all lovers of truth.

In speaking of the charges against Dr. Tinsley, a Youngstown paper says: "Declaring that his enemies have decided to drop the charges against him for heresy, Dr. C. W. Tinsley now says he will personally ask for a committee to investigate his orthodoxy and give him a clear certificate. He has no fear he will be found otherwise than orthodox, and wants the people to know that he is so."

"The people who have been after me have decided that it is the best thing to drop the investigation," he said. "My congregation at the quarterly conference endorsed me and asked for my return. This committee of ministers who have been seeking to find something against me realize they have failed and that they can do nothing."

"They were not prepared to make the charges against me good, and they now see the outcome of such an investigation. It would result in my receiving a clear certificate of orthodoxy, which I want. They fear they will fail, and it will be a victory for me. Therefore they have decided to do nothing."

"I think that I will ask for a committee to investigate me. I want this matter to come to a head, and I am confident that I will win in the end. These preachers have carefully scanned every utterance of mine since I have been here to find something on which to base their charges, but they have failed. They have consulted the leading ecclesiastical authorities of the church to get their opinions on it, but without success. It is up to them for the burden of the proof and they cannot furnish it. The test of orthodoxy is based on the twenty-five articles of the Methodist book house and the first fifty-four sermons of Wesley. When my teachings are questioned it will come squarely to this to prove that they are not in accord with it."

But suppose there are things which are not included in these? Then what?

"Who shall say what the teachings shall be? There are many things which must be discussed outside of this and which I am doing. It is not for them to say whether they shall be along the conservative line or the progressive."

"If they should go forward and ask for a committee it will be composed either of nine or fifteen. I have the right of challenge, and will exercise it. It takes eight to find a heretic, and they will not be able to secure eight intelligent men, versed in ecclesiastical law, who will return a verdict against me."

"I want the endorsement of the conference in the matter and I will not stop until I get it."

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, SEPTEMBER 10, 1907.

With the advent of aerial warships, it will probably become necessary to change the architecture of the houses, as they will become easy targets to droppings from the balloons. In this twentieth century houses with foundations on top would look rather strange.

"EXCUSE" NOT NECESSARY
The State Recognizes Need of Big Livestock Pavilion.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 10.—President Conger of the State Fair association introduced Governor Hanly Monday when the state executive, in the livestock pavilion, made his official excuses for permitting the expenditure of $100,000 for the building of that same pavilion. Now, to speak exact truth, the building is a magnificent structure, well made to serve a need and a public purpose. And it may be that the governor's excuses were not needed. But be that as it may, the governor was careful, in praising the work and the building, to call special attention to the fact that Ohio set apart something like $326,000 for improving her state fair grounds, and that Illinois has given $580,000 for a like purpose. On the other hand he showed how Indiana, without aid from the legislature, had competed against Ohio and Illinois, and how the showing had been in Indiana's favor last year. The speech of the governor is regarded as the reply of the state fair promoters to any critics that may express themselves, and as an answer to any comments concerning the "extravagance" of the pavilion appropriation.

Candidates for state offices, the aspiring ones of both the Democratic and Republican parties, are drawn to the capital city this week by promise of crowds and political talk, and straws which will tell, by their manner of bending, which trend the wind has. The tillers of the soil, who by that token are pre-empt workers and men of party might, are sought at the state fair by the politicians. Today, being the day set aside for the old soldiers, is especially the time of the incoming of the candidates. The men who wear the badge today are objects of careful solicitude on the part of many anxious men. Reunions of old Civil war comrades are being held on every hand, and these reunions are visited by emissaries of men who desire office. Friends of Sidney Conger of Shelby county laughingly assert that this is Sidney's week. They also lay claim in Mr. Conger's name to a major portion of the farmer vote, with which Mr. Conger has been in close touch for many years, through his connection with the state fair association. This year he is president, and a functionary of magnitude at the fair grounds.

Every county in Indiana and the county councils up and down the state, as well as the influences which make county councils or which are affected by the acts of such councils, will take note of the action of the Marion county council as to setting off money to pay "tax ferrets." The sum of $20,000 a year is asked for this purpose. The county council last week refused to make the appropriation. It was said that big tax-dodgers or men of money who were likely to be brought to book by the "tax ferrets," had been quietly at work to induce the dropping of the hunters for sequestered property. It was asserted by the county assessor, Al Womack, that the refusal to allow this $20,000 would mean a loss of $60,000 a year to the county. The council was induced to reconsider, and it is said will make the usual appropriation. W. H. Charters, the "ferret," is under contract with an appropriation already made, to work until Jan. 1, 1908. Other counties may take their cue from Marion county.

Word went out Saturday night from brewers and from the police of Indianapolis, that Sunday must be "dry" in the capital city. As a result some of the downtown liquor places were closed against all comers for the first time in man's memory. Many arrests were made, and it is said by some observers that the day was not unusually "dry," and that many offenders escaped. But there were thirsty drink hunters, who, for the first time, sought drinks in vain. And this happened Sunday. The state in general is watching the big brewers and is interested in seeing what will come of the alliance of brewers and police for enforcement of the law.

Woman Holds the Fort.
Elwood, Ind., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Jane Farr, an Elwood widow, put James Gray, a constable, to flight in this city with a hatchet, and today he is wearing his head in a sling. Gray went to the Farr home to arrest a woman named Woods, for whom he had a warrant. He demanded entrance and was refused, and he broke in the door, but was met by the woman of the house with a hatchet. Mrs. Farr still holds the fort.

The Vice President at Pueblo.
Pueblo, Col., Sept. 10.—Vice President Fairbanks arrived here yesterday and was escorted to Mineral Palace park, where he made an address and where he met Senator Tillman. After the address a banquet was given in his honor at the Grand hotel, 400 citizens of Pueblo sitting at the table with the guests.

Terms Not Made Public.
Evansville, Ind., Sept. 10.—The molders of the city, numbering over 200 men, who struck at the various foundries because beer was interdicted during working hours, will return to work, the grievance having been adjusted, but with the terms not public.

For a Special Flag Day.
Sandusky, O., Sept. 10.—An effort is to be made by the members of the United States Spanish-American war veterans to have Dec. 1 next generally observed as a special flag day in the United States in honor of the sailing of the fleet of American warships for the Pacific coast in command of Admiral Evans. A motion to this effect was proposed by Past Commander Charles R. Miller of Cleveland at the opening of the fourth annual encampment of the veterans at Cedar Point. The motion was adopted with cheers and a waving of flags.

WORKMAN FATALLY HAZED

Fellow Employes Carry Their "Initiation" Entirely Too Far.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 10.—Henry Perry, a mill worker of Wheeling, W. Va., is dying from a brutal hazing administered by fifty employes of the Tyler Tube and Pipe company. Burned and beaten, there is little hope for his recovery. The Tyler company steel workers have a custom of initiating new employes. Perry came to work yesterday from the Wheeling mills. At the midnight lunch hour he was seized by a couple of powerful mill men that he might be put through the "degree." Perry fought valiantly and with two iron pipes succeeded in warding off several of his tormentors until overpowered by superior numbers. His clothing was fastened to a hook of a big iron crane and he was bound fast with cords. Then he was swung above the flame of a big blast furnace which is usually approached by the workmen only when covered by a shield. Finally the cords were burned through and Perry's unconscious form dropped to the floor right in front of the furnace, where his flesh was shiveled and his clothing charred. His tormentors, alarmed at their work, called Dr. J. Maxwell, who worked with the man for seven hours before restoring consciousness. Physicians believe Perry inhaled the flames, and entertain little hope for his recovery.

Twenty-Two Miners Injured.
St. Louis, Sept. 10.—News has reached here of an explosion in mine No. 11 of the Deering Coal company at West Frankfort, Ill., in which 22 men were injured, some of them probably fatally. Seventeen of the men, all Italians, are in Vernon hospital. The men had entered a gas-laden room when the lighted lamp carried by one of the miners caused the gas to explode.

The Burlington Will Fight.
Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 10.—The Burlington railway has challenged the jurisdiction of the Nebraska railway commission to lower grain rates in the state. The commission recently announced a proposed reduction and all the roads were granted hearings, the Burlington appearing yesterday. It is expected that all the railroads will contest the authority of the commission.

A Strong Organization.
Teheran, Sept. 10.—The secret society to which the assassin of Premier Mirza Ali Asghar Khan belonged has 700 members. The headquarters of the organization is in Teheran.

DIDN'T LAST LONG

Jimmie Britt Lost to Joe Gans in the Fifth Round.

HE BROKE HIS LEFT ARM

A Swing to the Body Was Blocked by Gans in Such a Way as to Leave Opponent Helpless.

The Tears Rolled Down Britt's Cheeks While Doctors Were Examining the Fracture.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—A left swing to the body, cleverly blocked by Joe Gans, cost Jimmy Britt any chance he might have had to win the lightweight championship of the world and brought to a close five rounds of fast fighting, witnessed by a crowd of about 14,000 people at Recreation park. The blow caught by Gans on his elbow was struck in the middle of the fourth round. It broke Britt's wrist, and though he went on again in the fifth round, he was helpless in both offense and defense. It was not until this round that he informed his seconds of the mishap.

"What's the use of my going on, I can't fight. I am helpless," he said to Tiv Kreling. Captain of Police Gleason was notified at the ringside and stopped the fight. Referee Welch gave the decision to Gans. Three doctors after an examination stated that the injury was a fracture and dislocation of the lower end of the ulna, the innermost bone of the wrist. Whether it was a genuine fracture or not, Britt showed such intense suffering while the doctors were manipulating his wrist that the tears rolled unchecked down his cheeks.

"I was utterly helpless," he said. "I could not even hold up my left hand after I broke it. I had to guard for Gans's left and had no punch except with my right."

The fight while it lasted was a slug-fight match, but it was perfectly evident to every trained observer that Britt had no chance to win from the negro. For the first time in his life he was outmatched.

Britt's lack of coolness was partly responsible for the miserable ending of the fight. From the first tap of the gong he appeared over-egged. He was not content to take the advice shouted to him by his seconds to make Gans do the leading, but he rushed headlong into quarters that developed an inevitable slug-fight match in which the champion had by far the advantage. In the first round Britt staggered Gans to the ropes with a left swing on the neck that had lots of force in it. In the same round he also used left and right successfully to the body and face, but took in punishment a straight left on the nose, that slowed him down.

The second round developed a mix-up at the ropes in which both men exchanged vicious rights and lefts, Gans taking the advantage. In the third Gans followed his tactics of crowding Britt into a corner and the Californian had his hands and feet busy working his way out. The round was even. Gans drew first blood in the fourth with a lightninglike straight left that brought a scarlet stream trickling from the corner of Britt's mouth. It was right after this that Britt threw all of his strength into a left swing that proved his merciful undoing. The decision of the doctors effectively disposes of any claim of "fake."

Editor's Wife Killed by Train.
New Paris, O., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Archibald Raney, aged thirty-seven years, was instantly killed, and Miss Carrie Whitacre painfully, though not seriously, injured as a result of being run down by a Pennsylvania train near here. Mrs. Raney, who was the wife of the editor and owner of the New Paris Mirror, had gone for a walk with Miss Whitacre, and they were crossing the railroad track a short distance from the Pennsylvania station. An eastbound train was approaching, and they stepped to the opposite track just as the westbound mail train reached the spot. Mrs. Raney was hurled a great distance and death came almost instantly. Miss Whitacre had reached the edge of the track and therefore did not receive the full force of the train's blow.

Assassins Executed.
Mexico City, Sept. 10.—Florentino Morales and Bernardo Mora, who on June 6, were convicted and sentenced to death for the assassination of former President Barillas of Guatemala here April 7, were executed in the Belin prison yesterday. This ends an international episode which at one time threatened to bring on war between Mexico and Guatemala.

UTTERLY GROUNDLESS

Grand Army Has No Thought of Political Action.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Saratoga is crowded with veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Mingled with pre-election gossip, there has been a rumor among the early arrivals that an attempt would be made at the encampment to endorse President Roosevelt for a third term. Commander Brown today declared that the rumor is utterly groundless. "The Grand Army of the Republic is not a political organization," he said, "and such work would be entirely beyond its jurisdiction."

Five candidates have arrived in the field for commander-in-chief. An active canvass is being made by all of these for the office. Among them are H. P. Coney of Topeka, Kan.; General John T. Wilder of Knoxville, Tenn., and Charles G. Burton of Nevada, Mo. The election will take place Friday morning.

The first session of the encampment will be held tonight, when Governor Charles E. Hughes will welcome the veterans to New York state. The speakers will include Commander-in-Chief Brown; Corporal James Tanner, and Archbishop Ireland.

More Work of Night Riders.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 10.—A band of one hundred "night riders" surrounded the residence of A. J. Ladd, a Christian county farmer, and fired over a hundred bullets into the bedrooms in which Mrs. Ladd and seven children were hiding after Ladd had been called to the door. He was taken to the tobacco barn and told that it would be burned tonight if he failed to join the association. The farms of J. M. Crowe and Oscar Smiley were also visited, their tobacco plants destroyed and the owners warned to join the association. Word was sent to Magistrate John Rogers that his store would be burned if he failed to enter the farmers' organization. All the persons warned have signed the pledges of the association.

Charged With Contempt.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 10.—The trial of Edward Callahan, former sheriff of Breathitt county, charged with contempt of court, began at Winchester, Clark county, yesterday afternoon. The case grows out of the $100,000 damage suit of Arabella Marcum of Jackson against James and Alex Hargis, D. F. French and Edward Callahan, which suit charged them with the responsibility for the assassination of Marcum on May 4, 1903. French, Mose Feltner and Callahan were charged with contempt of court in spiriting away witnesses for the commonwealth to prevent them from testifying. French was tried and fined $3,000 and sentenced to a year in jail.

Mountaineers Obstruct Traffic.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 10.—Because one of their number had been forcibly ejected, a band of mountaineers stopped a passenger train on the Virginia & Southwestern, in Carter county, Tennessee, and attacked the conductor and train crew. A battle followed in which pistols were used freely. Captain Robert Carnahan, the conductor, and Brakemen R. B. Taylor and A. D. Cross had a narrow escape, the latter being badly beaten. Dan Berry, who was ejected from the train and who took the lead in the attack, was captured, while his companions were beaten off. Berry was put in jail at Elizabethtown.

Long Trip in Sight.

Seattle, Sept. 10.—Secretary Taft will sail from Seattle next Thursday for the Orient on a journey which will not end until he has made a complete circuit of the globe.

BIG COAL MERGER

Centralization Scheme Aims at the Control of Western Fields.

MINES WORTH $12,000,000

Are Covered by Monster Merger the Announcement of Which Has Just Been Made.

The Best Producing Properties in Indiana and Eastern Illinois Are Included.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 10.—The formation of the biggest coal company in the West, as the result of a series of deals, each of which brought the promoters a step nearer the realization of their endeavors—the centralization of control of the Western coal fields—has been announced here by George T. Buckingham and W. M. Bridgett of Danville, Ill. Twenty-five plants in Indiana and Illinois are involved, which have 350,000,000 tons of coal in sight, and in which $12,000,000 is invested. The promoters are the best known coal men in the West, and they are backed by Eastern capitalists. Mr. Buckingham is authority for the statement that the proposed company will be the biggest coal concern west of the Alleghanies. W. S. Bogle of Chicago, well known for his extensive coal operations, is now in New York, engineering the financial end of the deal, while Messrs. Buckingham and Bridgett have charge at this end of the line. Buckingham and Bridgett are representing the owners in the sale of the properties forming the nucleus for this undertaking.

The properties involved are the mines in the Danville and Clinton districts, the first-named in Illinois and the other in Indiana, specifically known as the Kelly, the Oak Hill and the Dering mines. The Kelly and Oak Hill properties number six mines each, while the Dering has fifteen. This will place the biggest field in the West under the management, and it is the combination of all the interests of the several companies making up the old Kelly company, the Dering company, of which the Shirleys, Hammond and Dering are large stockholders, and the Oak Hill district, at which Messrs. Buckingham, Bridgett and Bogle, with the Eastern syndicate, are aiming. A consummation of the deal which, according to Mr. Buckingham, probably will be closed in Chicago on the return of Mr. Bogle from the East, means much to the Chicago coal market. The company now in process of organization will be able to supply coal to that market, it is asserted, at least 30 cents a ton cheaper than any other coal field accessible to Chicago, owing to a differential in freight rate to that amount which it enjoys by reason of the location of its mines. It is asserted that the Chicago market will be dominated by the new company. Practically every coal mine of any consequence in eastern Illinois and western Indiana is involved in the negotiations.

ELUSIVE CRACKSMEN

Bloodhounds Fail to Find the Trail at Kokomo.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 10.—After shattering the safe in Charles Middleton's grocery, at Kennedy and Jefferson streets, this city, with nitroglycerin, at 3 o'clock in the morning, four robbers obtained $175 and some of Middleton's valuable papers and escaped. The cracksmen were seen running from the building by several residents of the neighborhood, who were awakened by the explosion. The police have been at work on the case ever since the robbery was discovered, but have made no arrests. Bloodhounds brought here from Noblesville failed to reveal any tangible clue.

The police suspect the robbery was committed by the same persons who blew the safe in the postoffice at Mulberry, a few miles west of here, early Saturday morning, and obtained $150.

Deadly Quarrel Over $2.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 10.—James O. Lane, night watchman at the Vandalla Coal company's mine No. 5, near Cloverland, this county, who was assaulted by Lawrence Smith last Thursday evening, is dead of his injuries and Smith has been committed to jail on the charge of murder. Lane had been living in a house owned by Smith, and Smith had agreed to furnish water for his livestock. This he failed to do, and when Smith called for his rent Lane held back $2 to repay him for carrying water. The deadly quarrel resulted.

Farmer Hanged Himself.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 10.—Benjamin Hall, sixty years old, farmer near Harpordsburg, this county, and well-to-do, who has been in failing health for some time, committed suicide by hanging. Hall was a Mason and a member of the Methodist church. Although suffering from nervous prostration, he has never dropped a hint that he contemplated self-destruction.

Drowned at Bridge.

Sheals, Ind., Sept. 10.—While Chas. Kelley was crossing a bridge over Haw creek the bridge was swept away and Kelley, together with the horse, was drowned.

County News

Arlington.

Another heavy rain on Saturday. The assessment for burial purposes against the members of the Greenfield Burial Association is about 11 cents per month, which is the cheapest and most desirable security anyone. Everyone should belong to the association.

Miss Alice and Annie Stanley are visiting friends in Connersville this week.

A large number of Arlington people attended the Connersville fair last week.

The Arlington Christian Sunday school are going to picnic next Saturday on the banks of Little Blue river, south of Sumner.

The Christian and M. E. churches are still holding union meetings in the Christian church and will continue to do so until the new M. E. church is finished. Rev. Beck preached in the forenoon Sunday, and Rev. Mr. Burns held services in the evening. If both churches can unite for a while when emergency requires them, why could they not unite all the time. To all who are as fortunate as to reach heaven, they will be together.

Uncle Rober Meredith is again able to be out and to attend church.

F. M. Meredith will move to his new home on the Macy farm which he recently purchased this week.

From present indications, potatoes are going to command a fancy price this fall.

Apples are worth almost their weight in gold now, and what will they bring in the spring.

Mrs. Stant, who has been in St. Vincent's hospital for some weeks, has returned home and hopes to be much better for the operation.

Mrs. James Johnson still lives and suffers with that awful disease, cancer, and requires the constant attention of doctor and nurse. Mrs. J. S. Matthews is the nurse and Dr. I. F. Smith the physician. She is a patient sufferer, praying for the end to come that she may go to her eternal home. Heaven but a waiting call from her Master. Every comfort this life can afford is given her. The family have the sympathy of all. Watermelons are in abundance and very cheap.

Grandma Stanley will soon celebrate her 94th birthday. She is as bright as a silver dollar and would attempt to do a good deal of work if she had her eye sight. She is an interesting character of Posey township and it is certainly worth a trip across the county to visit her and hear her tell of the pioneer days in Posey township, when she and her husband settled here.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY C. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

Meantime a solitary figure remained in the library, pacing to and fro like a lost soul in purgatory. Mrs. Ryder had returned from the play and gone to bed, serenely oblivious of the drama in real life that had been enacted at home. The servants locked the house for the night, and still John Burkett Ryder walked the floor of his sanctum, and late into the small hours of the morning the watchman going his lonely rounds saw a light in the library and the restless figure of his employer sharply silhouetted against the white blinds.

For the first time in his life John Burkett realized that there was something in the world beyond self. He had seen with his own eyes the sacrifice a daughter will make for the father she loves, and he asked himself what manner of a man that father could be to inspire such devotion in his child. He probed into his own heart and conscience and reviewed his past career. He had been phenomenally successful, but he had not been happy. He had more money than he knew what to do with, but the pleasures of the domestic circle, which he saw other men enjoy, had been denied to him. Was he himself to blame? Had his insatiable craving for gold and power led him to neglect those other things in life which contribute more truly to man's happiness? In other words, was this life a mistake? Yes, it was true what this girl charged—he had been merciless and unscrupulous in his dealings with his fellow man. It was true that hardly a dollar of his vast fortune had been honestly earned. It was true that it had been wrung from the people by fraud and trickery. He had craved for power, yet now he had tasted it, what a hollow joy it was, after all! The public hated and despised him. Even his so-called friends and business associates toadied to him merely because they feared him. And this judge—this father he had persecuted and ruined—what a better man and citizen he was! How much more worthy of a child's love and of the esteem of the world!

What had Judge Rossmore done, after all, to deserve the frightful punishment the amalgamated interests had caused him to suffer? If he had blocked their game he had done only what his oath, his duty, commanded him to do. Such a girl as Shirley Rossmore could not have had any other kind of a father. Ah, if he had had such a daughter he might have been a better man, if only to win his child's respect and affection. John Burkett pondered long and deeply, and the more he ruminated the stronger the conviction grew upon him that the girl was right and he was wrong. Suddenly he looked at his watch. It was 1 o'clock. Roberts had told him that it would be an all night session and that a vote would probably not be taken until very late. He unhooked the telephone and, calling "central," asked for "long distance" and connection with Washington.

It was 7 o'clock when the maid entered Shirley's room with her breakfast, and she found its occupant up and dressed. "Why, you haven't been to bed, miss?" exclaimed the girl, looking at the bed in the inner room, which seemed scarcely disturbed. "No, Theresa, I-I couldn't sleep." Hastily pouring out a cup of tea, she added: "I must catch that 9 o'clock train to Washington. I didn't finish packing until nearly 3."

"Can I do anything for you, miss?" inquired the maid. Shirley was as popular with the servants as with the rest of the household.

"No," answered Shirley, "there are only a few things to go in my suitcase. Will you please have a cab here in half an hour?"

The maid was about to go when she suddenly thought of something she had forgotten. She held out an envelope which she had left lying on the tray.

"Oh, miss, Mr. Jorkins said to give you this and master wanted to see you as soon as you had finished your breakfast."

Shirley tore open the envelope and took out the contents. It was a check, payable to her order for $5,000 and signed "John Burkett Ryder."

A deep flush covered the girl's face as she saw the money—a flush of annoyance rather than of pleasure. This man who had insulted her, who had wronged her father, who had driven her from his home, thought he could throw his gold at her and insolently send her per her as one settles haughtily with a servant discharged for impertinence. She would have none of his money—the work she had done she would make him a present of. She replaced the check in the envelope and passed it back to Theresa.

"Give this to Mr. Ryder and tell him I cannot see him."

"But Mr. Ryder said"—insisted the girl.

"Please deliver my message as I give it," commanded Shirley with authority. "I cannot see Mr. Ryder."

The maid withdrew, but she had barely closed the door when it was opened again and Mrs. Ryder rushed in without knocking. She was all flushed with excitement and in such a hurry that she had not even stopped to arrange her toilet.

"My dear Miss Green," she gasped, "what's this I hear—going away suddenly without giving me warning?"

"I wasn't engaged by the month," replied Shirley dryly.

"I know, dear, I know. I was thinking of myself. I've grown so used to you—how shall I get on without you? No one understands me the way you do. Dear me! The whole house is upset. Mr. Ryder never went to bed at all last night. Jefferson is going away, too—forever, he threatens. If he hadn't come and woke me up to say goodbye, I should never have known you intended to leave us. My boy's going—you're going—every one's deserting me!"

Mrs. Ryder was not accustomed to such prolonged flights of oratory, and she sank exhausted on a chair, her eyes filling with tears.

"Did they tell you who I am—the daughter of Judge Rossmore?" demanded Shirley.

It had been a shock to Mrs. Ryder that morning when Jefferson burst into his mother's room before she was up and acquainted her with the events of the previous evening. The news that the Miss Green whom she had grown to love was really the Miss Rossmore of whose relations with Jefferson her husband stood in such dread was far from affecting the financier's wife as it had Ryder himself. To the mother's simple and ingenuous mind, free from prejudice and ulterior motive, the girl's character was more important than her name, and certainly she could not blame her son for loving such a woman as Shirley. Of course, it was unfortunate for Jefferson that his father felt this bitterness toward Judge Rossmore, for she herself could hardly have wished for a more sympathetic daughter-in-law. She had not seen her husband since the previous evening at dinner, so was in complete ignorance as to what he thought of this new development, but the mother sighed as she thought how happy it would make her to see Jefferson happily married to the girl of his own choice, and in her heart she still entertained the hope that her husband would see it that way and thus prevent their son from leaving them as he threatened.

"That's not your fault, my dear," she replied, answering Shirley's question. "You are yourself, that's the main thing. You mustn't mind what Mr. Ryder says. Business and worry make him irritable at times. If you must go, of course you must; you are the best judge of that, but Jefferson wants to see you before you leave." She kissed Shirley in motherly fashion and added: "He has told me everything, dear. Nothing would make me happier than to see you become his wife. He's downstairs now waiting for me to tell him to come up."

"It's better that I should not see him," replied Shirley slowly and gravely. "I can only tell him what I have already told him. My father comes first. I have still a duty to perform."

"That's right, dear," answered Mrs. Ryder. "You're a good, noble girl, and I admire you all the more for it. I'll let Jefferson be his own advocate. You'll see him for my sake!"

She gave Shirley another affectionate embrace and left the room, while the girl proceeded with her final preparations for departure. Presently there was a quick, heavy step in the corridor outside and Jefferson appeared in the doorway. He stood there waiting for her to invite him in. She looked up and greeted him cordially, yet it was hardly the kind of reception he looked for or that he considered he had a right to expect. He advanced sulkily into the room.

"Mother said she had put everything right," he began. "I guess she was mistaken."

"Your mother does not understand, neither do you," she replied seriously. "Nothing can be put right until my father is restored to honor and position."

"But why should you punish me because my father fails to regard the matter as we do?" demanded Jefferson rebelliously.

"Why should I punish myself—why should we punish those nearest and dearest?" answered Shirley gently. "The victims of human injustice always suffer where their loved ones are tortured. Why are things as they are—that's all."

The young man strode nervously up and down the room, while she gazed listlessly out of the window, looking for the cab that was to carry her away from this house of disappointment. He pleaded with her:

A few doses of this remedy will invariably cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea. It can always be depended upon, even in the more severe attacks of cramp colic and cholera morbus. It is equally successful for summer diarrhoea and cholera infantum in children, and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every man of a family should keep this remedy in his home. Buy in 10c. PRICE, 25c. LARGE SIZE, 50c.

Almost all Republican voters of Rushville have received letters signed by Charles Miller, of Goshen, asserting his intentions to become a candidate for Governor of Indiana. Miller states that he remembers the support given him by Rush county, when he was a candidate for attorney-general and expresses his appreciation. "Mr. Miller says that in case any county has a candidate he will not expect local support.

Our Population.
An interesting fact is brought out in the compilation of statistics by John P.
Moses, in the historical sketch he has written, which shows that in 1830, at the first census after Rush county was organized, the population was 9,707.
This was gained in a little less than nine years, more than one thousand per year. The last census in 1900, shows a population of 20,148, a gain of 10,441 in seventy years, less than 150 per cent.

Talk About Sleeping.

Women are like men when it comes to sleeping. Plenty of restful sleep makes a man strong and vigorous, and it makes a woman happy and beautiful.
But both women and men can procure restful sleep by using Sexine Pills. It is well known that nervousness and overwork prevent sleep. It is equally well known that Sexine Pills produce that delightful relaxation that folds one's tired limbs in Nature's arms while the unconscious body draws new life and vigor. Sexine Pills are the perfect tonic. They are guaranteed for all forms of weakness. They cost $1 a box; six boxes for $5, with full guarantee inclosed. Address or call Hargrove & Mullin, Rushville. This is the store that sells all the principal remedies and

CHILDREN IN THE RAIN

Obliged to Wait Until Schools are Opened Parents make the mistake of sending their children to school too early in the morning. The school house doors are not opened until 8 o'clock, and on days like this it is really pitiable to see many children standing in the rain waiting for the schools to open.
It is not deemed advisable by those in charge to allow the children the freedom of the building for to romp through the halls until the teachers arrive.

condition to ship to its home in Huntington, West Va., where it will be turned out for the remainder of the season. C. W. Phellis, the owner of the promising pacer, expressed himself as being highly pleased with the treatment given the horse here.
